

HEARST TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR, CONNORS SAYS

Demand for Nomination Overwhelming, Politician Says

NEW YORK, May 13.—William Randolph Hearst will be democratic candidate for governor of New York and will be elected, W. J. Connors, Buffalo publisher and party leader, declared emphatically to the United Press today.

The demand "instincts" for Hearst's candidacy is overwhelming, Connors said, while in New York City Hearst will have the same support, which swept Mayor Bryan into office.

"I have been an admirer of Hearst for years," Connors said, "and now our chairman are living up to make him president."

Hearst is just the type of man that is needed—the exact opposite of Miller. If the republicans run Miller, that will be an additional argument for nominating Hearst."

Albuquerque Leads Southwestern Towns, C. S. Nichols Says

C. S. Nichols, vice-president and general manager of the Federal Light and Television company, is spending several days in Albuquerque, going over pending improvements in the local light and power plant with manager Arthur Frazee. Mr. Nichols has recently visited Phoenix, Tucson and other southwestern cities and says he finds business more active in Albuquerque than anywhere else in the region.

"Albuquerque," Mr. Nichols said last night, "is one of the most attractive cities in the west. What trees are a great asset. We regard Albuquerque also as one of the coming towns of the country, one in which growth is sure to occur, and a growth which we expect to be rapid, substantial and of large proportions. The extensive expansion of our plant here has been authorized on the back of that expectation."
